

Integrative Biology Special Seminar

WHY & HOW TO TEACH ABOUT BIODIVERSITY: WALKIN' & TALKIN' THE TREE OF LIFE

DR. HARRY GREENE
PROFESSOR EMERITUS
CORNELL UNIVERSITY

THURSDAY, JUNE 1

10 - 11 A.M. | AGRICULTURAL & LIFE SCIENCES BUILDING 4001

FREE & OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Dr. Harry Greene is an award winning author, herpetologist and educator. He graduated from Texas Wesleyan in 1968 before serving three years as an army medic. Following his military service, he earned his Masters and PhD and entered a distinguished career as a curator and professor. Currently, he is Professor Emeritus of Ecology and Evolutionary Biology at Cornell.

ib.oregonstate.edu/smnrs

Accommodations for disabilities may be made by contacting 541-737-2993 or ib@oregonstate.edu.

Oregon State University